Description:

Nordsee Fischverarbeitung GmbH, a leading company in the German seafood industry, is looking for motivated and reliable individuals to join our production team as a Fish Packer/Production Worker. This role is essential for maintaining the high quality and freshness of our products for national and international distribution. The work involves preparing, sorting, and packaging various seafood products in a modern, climate-controlled factory environment. Candidates should be ready for physically demanding work and committed to adhering strictly to food safety and hygiene protocols. We welcome applicants with a high-school level of education or equivalent, and while prior experience in food handling is a plus, entry-level candidates with a strong work ethic are highly encouraged to apply.
