sections of the warehouse, which may involve some time in temperature-controlled (cool room) environments, so you must be comfortable with this.

Safety is our top priority. You must possess a valid and current Australian or internationally recognised forklift license. We will rely on you to conduct daily pre-start checks on your equipment and report any maintenance issues immediately. Experience using Radio Frequency (RF) scanners for inventory control is essential for tracking stock movements and ensuring order accuracy. The work is physical and fast-paced, requiring you to be alert and capable of heavy lifting at times, even when operating machinery. We operate on shift schedules, and the ability to work consistent hours and show up on time is non-negotiable.
